† PP's 13th March

Who has days when they feel like saying – "That's it, I don't want to play anymore!"

I certainly have those kinds of days, and I think that most people struggle from time to time. This kind of upset or irritation can lead to some of the more unpleasant sides of our humanity as we can often respond badly to those around us.

It might even be a chicken and the egg thing....

One person is nasty to another, and the other feels hurt and challenged so they in turn lash out at that person or sometimes perhaps even someone else. As we listen to the tone in this week's Gospel from Luke, we gain a glimpse that maybe even Jesus was not immune to this. That he like us obviously had days when he felt irritated, in this case by Herod and perhaps the Pharisees as well.

So, how do we deal with these feelings?

Well, we are told to love your neighbour as ourselves and perhaps it is in taking the time to consider how we would want others to treat us we will find how we should respond.

May the Love of Christ be with you in your journey

Fr Peter

2nd Sunday in Lent

Today's gospel reading sees some Pharisees come to warn Jesus that Herod Antipas is out to kill him and they warn him away from Jerusalem. Jesus is not at all deterred by their caution, and tells the Pharisees to tell 'that fox' Herod about how he is casting out demons and healing the sick for the next three days. Despite knowing that being in Jerusalem will result in his death, Jesus remains utterly committed to playing his part in God's mission.

† Lord, like you may I play my part in working for God's kingdom, never shying away from it even when difficulties and worries abound.

† Give thanks for the work and witness of the Anglican Church of Papua New Guinea
